MR. RIPLEY IS OUTDONE

Canned Salmon Thrown Into a Drawer, and Forgotten, Has Sprouted Hair Which Looks Human

Of all the strange exhibits brought to this office, the strangest came to the editorial attention yesterday.

The door opened to admit George B. McLellan of 12 Brewster street, bareheaded and manifestly excited.

"I want to tell you my story," said he.

The editorial nod was an invitation for him to continue.

"Somewhere between the 10th and 15th of last March," said Mr. McLellan, "I bought a can of salmon for the cat. She ate all but a little of it, and I tossed the remaining piece into a drawer and forgot all about it.

"The other day I heard my son exclaim, 'What's this thing in the drawer with hair on it?'

"And sure enough there was that piece of salmon with what appeared to be human hair, an inch long growing on it. The salmon was dry and moldy but there was no odor to it. Since we found it the hair has grown an inch or more. Can you beat that?"

There was the evidence, sure enough—the piece of dry and moldy salmon, and flowing from it silken hair that would be the envy of any debutante. It would part like human hair, and would doubtless respond to a permanent wave process.

Mr. McLellan still has the specimen, and has been urged to submit it to some scientist.

He has also been informed by a humorous friend that a fortune awaits him if he can discover evidences of hair growing as prolifically on bald heads as it is on that canned salmon.

Which, after all, is not a bit funny. It's the truth.

these clubs is invited to enjoy this evening of fun, speaking, special entertainment and the usual singing. A delicious shore dinner will be served by the proprietors of Wadsworth Inn and Ocean View Tea Room at 7 o'clock daylight. Leo G. Shesong, district governor of the 41st district, comprising Maine and New Brunswick; Past District Governor W. Merritt Emerson of Bangor and Past King Lions Ed. Longley of Waterville, Maurice Orbeton of Bangor and Herm Libby of the Portland Club are also coming.

Earle W. Hodges, past president of Lions International was born in Arkansas in 1883, became a member of many fraternal organizations including the Masons, Elks, Knights of Pythias, the Woodmen and the A.O.U.W. He made the race for Secretary of State of Arkansas, and was one of the youngest men to ever hold that office.

Henry L. Doherty happened to be in one of Mr. Hodges' audiences at Atlantic City one day, and he determined at once to have Mr. Hodges in his employ. The Doherty oil, gas, and power interests needed just such a man to make friends with the public. So, with a financial offer which the Arkansas people could not afford to meet, and which Mr. Hodges could not afford to refuse, Doherty took the young orator to New York City where he has continued to build good will for the company through travel and contact with people in all parts of the country. He has full charge of public relations for the Doherty interests.

He was president of the Little Rock, Arkansas Lions Club, and helped to make it the largest Lions Club in the world. He was elected president of the International Association for the year 1930-31. As immediate past president Mr. Hodges was ex-officio chairman of the International convention committee in charge of preparations of the 1932 Lions Convention which was held in Los Angeles.

THE CAMPAIGN IN MAINE

Finds Republicans Full of Confidence—Secretary Mills Among the Prominent Speakers

The political campaign, from the Republican standpoint, is interestingly summarized in the following Portland dispatch:

A very aggressive speaking campaign is being waged by the various Republican organizations in Maine to the end that the outcome of the State election Sept. 12 may be such as to encourage the party leaders in all other parts of the country, looking to the National election in November. State headquarters is maintained in Portland with Donald T. Field as executive secretary. His father, State Chairman Daniel F. Field of Phillips, and Mrs. Eva C. Mason of Dover-Foxcroft, vice chairman, are occasional visitors. Most of their time, however, is devoted to the tours all over the State.

Notable national speakers have been assigned to Maine by the national committee. Ogden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, is scheduled to speak in Portland Sept. 10 and Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, in Bangor, Sept. 9. Mrs. Gans is on the slate for an address in the Oakland music camp bowl Aug. 27 and she will fill numerous engagements. James H. MacLafferty, a former California Congressman and a friend of President Hoover, is due Tuesday for a series of rallies.

Irving T. Gumb of the national committee headquarters' treasury department is in Portland for two weeks as an observer of the campaign. Meantime, scores of State candidates are on the stump. Burleigh Martin, candidate for Governor, and Congressman John E. Nelson, candidate for re-election, and ex-Gov. Ralph O. Brewster, candidate in the 3d District, are exhorting throngs in tours that eventually will have covered all the populous centers of the State.

Senator Frederick Hale and Gov. Wm. Tudor Gardner are among the other speakers who are giving freely of their time and speaking ability. Schedules are made up in State headquarters that route them for five days a week, several meetings being held in a single day in almost all instances.

Every State contributor of a dollar or more is being presented with a bronze button by the committee. The campaign chest will be vastly less weighty than in former years, it is reported, but party leaders believe that local committeemen and workers will swing into line election day to bring out the full party vote.

Republican confidence in a substantial victory in the State is general. They believe the depression may be something of a factor in an expression of resentment at the polls, but there is not in evidence, they say, anything like a revolt anywhere. They laugh when Democrats pretend that they have a chance of carrying Maine this year or coming anywhere near doing so.

Other speakers will be sent by the Republican national committee from the following list:

Secretary of War Hurley, Secretary of State Stimson, Secretary of Labor Doak, Postmaster General Brown, Senator Moses of New Hampshire, Senator Herbert of Rhode Island, Senator Bingham of Connecticut, Senator Davis of Pennsylvania, Fourth Asst. Postmaster General Philip, Allen Property Custodian Sutherland, Cresswell McLaughlin, author; Will Irwin, author; Representative Chipfield of Illinois, Representative Hooper of Michigan, Representative Beck of Pennsylvania.

Remember sale and demonstration on all Birds Eye Frosted Foods at Perry's Market.—adv.

The Industrial Index thinks the depression can not last always. May we remind the Index that neither can we.

"SIMMONS CORNER" CHANGES

A. H. Robinson of Portland Buys Well Known Main Street Establishment and Residence

An important real estate deal, which has been maturing for several weeks, was completed shortly before The Courier-Gazette went to press today, and concerns one of Rockland's best known business establishments, the E. E. Simmons' fruit and confectionery store and news stand at the corner of Main and Myrtle streets.

This property and the accompanying good will have been bought by Arthur H. Robinson, a former Rockland boy who for some years past has been a traveling salesman with home in Portland. Desiring to re-locate in his home city he took advantage of this opportunity, and will be assisted in his new enterprise by his brother, John another former Rockland boy who has been making his home in Portland. This city welcomes their return.

It is understood that A. H. Robinson has bought and will occupy the residence of the late ex-Mayor Israel Snow on Mechanic street.

Mr. Simmons who retires from this business does so because the condition of his health demands a change and complete rest for the time being, at least.

Years back, when he was much younger he was employed by the Cobb Lime Co. and A. J. Bird & Co. He came up off the wharf as clerk for E. Mont Perry, who then conducted a market near the corner of Main and Warren streets.

Sept. 28, 1889, he established the present store and for 43 years has been a prominent figure in that locality, which took on the name of "Simmons Corner" and for more than four decades has been a favorite gathering place for Southend folks. Mr. Simmons is believed to be the sole survivor of those who were in business in that section when he hung out his sign in '89.

"Ellie" is a native of Newcastle, but vacated that town at the age of 1 in favor of the city where he has established such a fine record as a business man—honored and liked by everybody. An early return to his former health is the wish of all.

CAPT. HAYS LEAVING US

Has Been Commander of the Kickapoo Eight Years, With a Splendid Record

Capt. Albert Hays who has for the past eight years been in command of the Coast Guard cutter Kickapoo leaves shortly for New York, whither he has been transferred.

Capt. Albert Hays, Who Regretfully Says Good-Bye To His Old Friend, the Kickapoo, After Eight Years' Service As Her Skipper.

the command of the Kickapoo which he joined at Cape May.

Public and official attention has been directed to a number of outstanding events in Capt. Hays' career.

In 1925 he took the Kickapoo to the assistance of Clyde Liner Mohawk, and rescued her 257 passengers who were taken aboard the Kickapoo.

Later another Clyde liner, the Lenape, was burned at Delaware Breakwater. When the Kickapoo reached her, all the small boats were gone, but there were 16 passengers on board hanging to the boat falls, and convinced that they would soon perish. Capt. Hays got them aboard the Kickapoo, and beached the wreck where it would not be a menace to navigation.

The Kickapoo's subsequent career has been unmarked by sensational events of this order, but she has been intensely useful to the merchant service, particularly as an ice breaker in Penobscot Bay and River. Capt. Hays treasures some highly commendatory letters from the mayor of Bangor and president of the Eastern Manufacturing Company.

As a commanding officer Capt. Hays has been exceedingly popular with his brother officers and the crew. He has always manifested a deep interest in the welfare of his men and has been an ardent patron of all their athletic sports. Breaking away from these associations of the past eight years is going to be no easy matter for the skipper, and it is certainly regretted by everybody else aboard the "Kick" as well as by the friends he and his family have made in local social circles. The residence at 67 Willow street which he bought some time ago will be let.

Capt. Hays was naturalized in Portland and has a voting residence in this city.

And Here Is the Kickapoo, Itself, a Good Friend To the Maine Coast, and Soon To Have a New Skipper

PASSED OVER ROCKLAND

The famous airplane "Heart's Content," which brought Capt. J. A. Mollison across the Atlantic Ocean on a solo flight, passed over Rockland at 1.30 Sunday afternoon, while the flyer was on his way from St. John, N. B. for Roosevelt Field, N. Y. The plane circled around the Rockland airport, several times and the name could be plainly discerned. The few folks who had been unable to get out of town on picnics or to the Tugus ball game got the thrill of their lives as "Heart's Content" dipped its ring in salute.

She—"I hope your recent marriage has turned out a great success."

He—"Oh, quite; I've already made three plays out of my wife's past."

Tatler.

I HAVE A RENDEZVOUS WITH DEATH
I have a rendezvous with Death
At some disputed barricade
When Spring comes round with rustling shade
And apple blossoms fill the air
I have a rendezvous with Death
When Spring brings back blue days and fair
It may be he shall take my hand
And lead me into his dark land
And close my eyes and quench my breath;
It may be I shall pass him still
I have a rendezvous with Death
On some scarred slope of battered hill
When Spring comes round again this year
And the first meadow flowers appear
God knows 'twere better to be deep
Pillowed in silk and scented down
Where love throbs out in blissful sleep
Pulse nigh to pulse, and breath to breath,
And but a narrow gulf between—
Where hushed awakenings are dear—
But I've a rendezvous with Death
At midnight in some flaming town
When Spring trips north again this year
And I to my pledged word am true,
I shall not fail that rendezvous.

THE VICTORY TOUR

Announcement of the Republican Victory Tour directs anew the attention of the electorate to the changed methods of political campaigning, which have succeeded the days of torchlight parades, brass bands and the voice of the spell-binder. It remains true today, as it always was, that the most potent form of campaign activity consists in personal contact. The voter likes to meet the candidate and through that face to face process get a general measure of the man, which is rarely difficult to do.

It is upon this practical basis that the Republicans of Maine are organizing the details of their short and sharp campaign which is to precede the election day of September 12. In consonance with this arrangement, Knox County on Wednesday of next week will be visited by the party's candidates, State and local, who will tour during the day the several towns and communities, meeting the voters and exchanging with them such information and views as may have natural association with the campaign. Upon another page is printed the official announcement.

ANOTHER REAL SUCCESS

None who saw the crowds of visitors thronging the shops of the city and going home laden with purchases could have doubted the degree of success that was registered in the Friday and Saturday dollar days. Not even the downpour of the opening day, copious as it was, served to dampen the ardor of the buyers, who continued busily at their tasks of purchasing until the closing hours of business. We think the belief well established among the people of this whole shopping region, that when our Chamber of Commerce sponsors these bargain occasions, perfect faith is kept by the business houses and the confidence of this buying public never is violated.

AUTOMOBILE DEATH TOLL

"Motor deaths" for the week, 26. Thus reads the headline in yesterday's Boston papers, a repetition of the usual Monday announcement by the Bay State press. Sometimes the figures are larger, rarely do they fall below. In Maine the number of weekly killings is happily not so large a scale, though the story of accident and death is a sad one to think upon and the narrowing of its figures would be welcomed with joy. We hesitate to think upon what these figures countrywide may be increased to, if the campaign of the wets for the enlarged use of intoxicants were to meet with the success at which they are aiming.

OPENING THE OLD HOMES

The annual event that brings the ancient town of Wiscasset into the limelight is this year set for the present week—Wednesday and Thursday—when its beautiful old homes are opened to visitors. What the old shipping port possessed of dignity and importance in those far-off days of its history, receives illustration today in these houses, built in that period of prosperity, and presenting to the eye of the visitor, in their architecture and furnishings, a story compact of the romantic and picturesque. The crowds that pilgrimage to the town to enjoy the exhibit grow larger each summer and spread the story of it to an ever widening circle. This is a great piece of publicity to be associated with the summer vacation season in Maine. Thomaston is another of the old colonial towns equipped with homes whose atmosphere is akin to that which renders Wiscasset famous. We continue to hold the belief that some time this asset will be made use of, the fine old homes in similar manner put on exhibition, tied in, perhaps, with the beautiful Knox Memorial and the colonial meeting-house on the hill, with its historic Paul Revere bell. Not to rival Wiscasset, but to supplement it as a summer show place, and thus further spread the fame of Maine.

THE BUSY REVOLVER

A three and a half year old girl was shot to death at Bar Harbor. The 22 calibre revolver was in the hands of her cousin, a boy of eleven. Accidental, of course, with consternation and grief on the part of the cousin, and with the parents of the slain child broken hearted. How does an eleven year old boy come into possession of a revolver? Of course he's too young to be trusted with so dangerous a weapon, but it is not a difficult matter for anybody, of responsible age or otherwise, to come by one of the instruments. Ostensi-

MR. JUSTICE RIDDELL

Is Visited With Another Honor By the Prime Minister of Canada

We notice by advices from Toronto that the distinguished member of our summer colony, the Honorable Mr. Justice Riddell, has accepted to the request of the Prime Minister and Government of Ontario, that he preside over a Royal Commission to investigate the facts concerning a certain matter of finance that has been for some time agitating the Province. The Justice stipulated, however, that he be permitted to remain here and complete his usual summer holiday at the Samoset. One of the two seasons since 1907 which failed to find him at the Samoset, was because he had been detained at home in the performance of a similar important public duty—and he declined this year to give up even a small part of his visit.

In addition to the large group of friends acquired in the contact with vacation visitors, Mr. Justice Riddell enjoys great popularity among the town's people, having on several occasions sat in with the service clubs and entertained them with the art of a cultured speaker. This Tuesday evening he is to be the guest speaker at Belfast, at an intercity meeting of the Rotarians of that city, Bangor, Camden, Rockland and Damariscotta and Newcastle.

TWO YEARS RUNNING

Ike Merrill Again Wins Amateur Golf Championship, Beating Ricker

The Maine resident amateur golf championship was again won by Isaac L. Merrill, Jr., of Camden, who on Saturday defeated the veteran Hiram Ricker, Jr., 7 and 5 on the 31st hole of what was to have been a 36-hole match over the Portland Country Club course.

Mr. Merrill won the championship for the second consecutive year and for the fourth time in five years. The Poland Spring play standing mainly through a brilliant par equaling morning round of 71 which gave him a five-hole lead at the end of the first 18 holes. Ike wavered in the afternoon but he very obligingly matched his youthful opponent's erratic play and the match ended on the 31st green when Ike three putted for the second time during the match.

The Poland Spring play standing him in good stead was dangerous throughout the first 18 holes, but Ike slipped but once during the second nine of the morning round to permit Ricker to snare his second hole of this round. This was at the 162-yard 14th which Ricker won with a par three. Ike, on this hole, bounced an iron shot off a tree to the left, was short on his second and rolled his third to the edge of the green, taking four to mark the only time he was above par figures during the incoming nine of the morning round.

The 71 carded by Merrill is one of the lowest medal scores ever turned in by a finalist in the Maine resident amateur championship and one of the lowest scores he has carded in match play. As the defending champion, Ike was considered the favorite but his staunchest supporters did not dare to predict that he would equal par to repulse the bid of Ricker, inasmuch as the latter had advanced to the finals by knocking off such players as Charlie Webber of Bangor, who last month took the title of Maine open amateur champion away from Merrill, Jack Leddy and Harlan Turner.

HE HAS MADE GOOD

Former Vinalhaven Boy Is Prominent In the State's Metropolis

A large portrait of Harry L. Sanborn, formerly of Vinalhaven and Rockland, appeared in the Portland Sunday Telegram. Beneath it ran this story:

"Most everybody in Portland knows Harry L. Sanborn. A native of Vinalhaven, he likes to chat about the good old days in Vinalhaven when that quaint old island town, lying off the coast about 12 miles from Rockland, with nothing between it and Europe but the rolling deep, furnished granite for many buildings and monuments throughout the United States. At the annual reunion of the Vinalhaven folks held each year at the Falmouth Hotel, he is always in the thick of things.

"Like all Vinalhaven born men, they never quite get the salt air out of their blood and Mr. Sanborn is no exception. He is a fisherman through and through and spends many happy hours on Sebago Lake where he owns a fine summer home. He served as State Director of Sea and Shore Fisheries from 1917 to 1920. He has been in the insurance business since that time and is now general agent for the State Mutual Life Assurance Company, a position he has held since 1923. He is president of the Portland Kiwanis Club, a director of the Maine Building and Loan Association and a member of the various Masonic bodies."

bly there are laws to cover the sale and use of revolvers, but experience teaches that these laws are easily got around.

BASEBALL NEARING ITS CLIMAX

Waldoboro and St. George Latest Winners—Togus Trip Turns Into a Tragedy

This Week's Games

Wednesday—St. George at Waldoboro.
Thursday—Camden vs. Thomaston, at Rockland.
Friday—Waldoboro at Rockland.
Saturday—Waldoboro at Camden.

The Bath team is playing a return game at St. George tonight.

The League Standing

	W	L	P.C.
St. George	18	2	.900
Waldoboro	12	8	.600
Rockland	9	12	.428
Thomaston	6	14	.300
Camden	6	15	.285

Tonight is an open date so far as the Twilight League is concerned, but Bath is playing a return game at St. George at 5:30. The Sagadahoc metropolis has a very strong team and local fans will have a chance to see how the twilight leagues of the two counties compare. Next Saturday the Maine Seaboard team of Bucksport is playing its rubber game with St. George, at St. George.

A dark mystery was solved on the St. George grounds last night when Manager Rawley discovered that balls "lost" in the left field undergrowth were being "picked" by the kids in the adjoining woods.

Waldoboro Wins Both

Waldoboro strengthened its hold on second place Saturday afternoon by winning both ends of a double-header at Community Park. The Lincoln County contenders were greatly aided in their two triumphs by some of the wildest throwing ever seen in that ball park. Thomaston made more hits in each contest, but the team was up against some superb fielding, and that was what carried the day.

First Game

The teams traveled along to the sixth inning with four scores to the credit of each. A double by Burns, a single by Kuhn and base on balls filled the Waldoboro bases in the sixth and a wild pitch sent Burns across the plate. Kirkland fanned the next two batters, but to the delight of the Lincoln fans Carleton dropped in a nice single and two more runs scored. The contest really ended there, for Thomaston scored only one run after the fourth inning.

Sherman had 10 chances in short-field and did something very unusual for him when he erred on two of them, but the eight chances which he accepted represented some very classy fielding. Benner took care of his five chances very nicely while over at first base Kuhn grabbed 15 of 'em, with all sorts and conditions of throws to select from.

Kirkland had a busy time in the box, and accepted all but one of his nine chances.

The feature play of the game was when Jack Benner stopped Stone's speedy ground while prostrate on the earth, recovering in season to nail his man at first. Jack got a big hand, but merely transferred his cud and looked modest.

Second Game

Its predecessor this game went six innings before the break came. Thomaston again made more hits, but her fielding was more ragged than a schoolboy's suit at the end of the vacation season.

Sherman and Kuhn were again pulling off some professional fielding, while that Reed boy in left field was spoiling what appeared, to be perfectly good hits.

A redeeming feature of Thomaston's fielding was the splendid work of Freeman at second. The Rockland boy accepted all of his nine chances.

Felt and Burns went into a tie for batting honors, each making three singles.

St. George Goes Visiting

The Courier-Gazette's prediction that St. George would win in Bath Saturday was borne out by a 3 to 1 score. In the box for the visitors was Johnson, the Belfast pitcher, who held the Sagadahoc outfit to five singles. The home team's five errors were also helpful in the result.

WEATHER
Saturday morning saw an end to fog and dull weather, and clear blue skies and westerly breezes made it a delightful weekend. It was warm enough to make a dip in ocean or lake refreshing. Yesterday noon temperature was 75, this morning at 8 o'clock 64, wind northwest; continued fair weather in sight.

Carl Frederickson of Brockton, Mass., is visiting here.

William A. Seavey has returned from a fortnight's vacation at his camp, Pleasant Point, with William H. Larabee as guest.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Peter's Church will hold a tea tomorrow at 3.30 at the rectory garden, when plans for the "Fairness Fair" will be made. If rainy it will be held in the rectory.

A very complete report of the second annual picnic of the Vinalhaven Band reached this paper too late for publication today, but will appear in Thursday's issue. The affair was reported by a well known island humorist and will be found very interesting by the participants and their friends.

Knox and Limerock Valley Pomona Granges will hold a joint field meeting at Wessaweske Grange, South Thomaston, Saturday. A basket lunch will be served at noon and a program of speaking, music, etc., will be given in the afternoon. Congressman John E. Nelson will be one of the speakers.

ROCKPORT BOYS' BAND WILL FURNISH MUSIC

J. N. Southard on Sunday personally conducted a fishing party, composed of five persons from Florida, who are summering in Belfast and vicinity. Their destination was Two Bush Island. A glorious sail and a big catch were features of the day. Mr. Southard joins the long list of persons who realize the value of advertising. An advertisement run in The Courier-Gazette has brought forth numerous calls, not only from Rockland, but from many of the nearby towns.

Scores of motorists bound for Togus to see the St. George game Sunday came across two badly smashed cars on the outskirts of Cooper's Mills. One belonged to three Massachusetts men who were on their way to North Haven. The other was the property of E. N. Sylvester of Cedar street, who was traveling in company with his wife and child. Mr. Sylvester and his wife were injured to such extent that they were taken to the Augusta hospital for examination. A young son of G. A. Achorn was also injured.

Due to popular request the exhibit of the fine etchings of Miss Katherine Merrill of New York and Camden will be continued this week at the Public Library. No art lover can afford to miss this exhibit—sensitive interpretations of beauty from many parts of the world, and convincing proof of the individuality of this art medium. Miss Merrill will be at the Library Thursday and Saturday afternoons from 3 to 6, and is always happy to discuss the etchings and the art with anyone interested. A traveler of extensive experience, visiting many unfrequented spots of the world, she has an unending fund of anecdotes and fascinating descriptive bits.

Tomorrow evening at the Eastern Music Camp, Rudolph Ringwald, assistant conductor of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra, and Adelbert W. Sprague, professor of music at University of Maine, will be guest conductors of the orchestra, and Alton Robinson, conductor of the Bangor High School Band, will be guest leader of the band. Francis Findlay will conduct the chorus. At this concert the Paul White "Poem" for violin and orchestra will be repeated with Daniel Sissman (first violinist of the orchestra) as soloist, and Mr. White conducting. Edwin Franko Goldman, conductor of the noted Goldman Band, will fly from New York to the camp Friday morning to be guest conductor at an especially arranged concert at 3.30 p. m. He will return by airplane immediately after the concert to conduct his own band at a concert in New York that evening. Louis Cornell of the faculty will play the first movement of the Rubinstein Concerto for piano with orchestra. This will be the final public concert of the season.

An old-time "Floral Album" brought to the notice of a member of The Courier-Gazette staff contains names familiar to the older residents of Rockland. Among these are noted: May Staples, May 12, 1879; Hattie A. McMain, Jan. 31, 1878; Georgia C. Sweetland, Feb. 24, 1879; Winthrop T. Cleveland, 1879; Ada F. Bird; Lelia E. The same genial smile which he wore when he left Rockland at the age of 18 adorned the features of Frederick W. Corneau when he came to The Courier-Gazette office yesterday to look up old friends. Mr. Corneau has been employed the past 12 years in the poster department at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer corporation and resides at 27 St. Germaine street, Boston. Since leaving Rockland, and before taking his present position Mr. Corneau has been employed by the Boston & Bangor Steamship Co., the Colonial Club of Cambridge and the Schubert Theatre Co. It is his first visit to his old home in seven years, and he is being cordially greeted. He expects to remain ten days, the guest of his mother, Mrs. Florence Peters, 23 Florence street.

Dr. R. W. Bickford and Mrs. Charles A. Emery attended the annual summer reunion at Kent's Hill Seminary, Saturday. The feature was the dedication of the new $50,000 gymnasium, named in honor of Prof. John O. Newton, former principal, and still a member of the faculty. More than 500 former students and friends of the school were present. A novel feature of the exercises was the riding onto the campus on horseback of Harry Pierce of Boston, class of 1895, in the impersonation of Luther Sampson, the founder of the school. The dedicatory address was given by Robert A. Cony, mayor of Augusta, who was a classmate (1903) of Mrs. Emery's. At the annual meeting of the Kent's Hill Associates, the general alumni association, Mrs. Emery was elected first vice president. Six classes held reunions.

SOUTH WALDOBORO

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meyer who have been vacationing on the farm of his sister, Mrs. Thomas Holmes, Sr., in Back Cove for the last two weeks, started Saturday for their home in Freeport, Long Island, planning to stop at Bethelham, Conn. enroute. Their prize Pomeranians which were with them are beautiful little animals and caused quite some admiring comment.

GOLFING TODAY

The finals in the President's Cup match is being run off today, starting at 2.30 o'clock, when an interested gallery will be on hand to watch what is likely to be a stiff contest between Newell Vaughan and Arnold Rogers.

A Flanagan was winner of Saturday's weekly handicap tournament, winning both low gross (72) and low net (66). J. L. Brewster of Camden was the runner-up with gross 89 and net 71.

MATINICUS AGAIN CAPTURED

This Time By the Jolly Picnickers Representing A. C. McLoon & C., and Allied Organizations

A. C. McLoon & Co. and associate concerns held their annual picnic at Matinicus Sunday, and exactly 45 noses were counted when all assembled at the dinner hour.

Providing food for these huskies who have been wrestling it from the ocean all their lives, proved an amazingly easy task.

The sun was just poking its cheery face above the horizon when Capt. Lewis Simmons headed the smack Pauline McLoon for the fishing grounds off Wooden Ball. An hour or so later this craft was joined by the Adelle McLoon, commanded by Capt. "Gil" Simmons.

Meantime the tanker Texoll, commanded by Capt. Job Cunningham was making a bee line for Matinicus, carrying the non-fishers, chefs, and other useful personages.

Looking back to the Wooden Ball fishing grounds we hear the swish of lines as the fish are drawn out of their native element—1000 pounds in the aggregate. Arthur P. (Bud) Haines caught the largest fish and Carl Cottrell, boss painter caught the first haddock, prizes accruing to these experts as the result of their success.

A whole washbowl full of fish chowder was concocted from the fruits of the sea, and while this pleasing task was in progress the McLoons hied away to the baseball field to pit their forces against a composite team made up of Vinalhaven players, Matinicus players, and a sprinkling of summer folk. It looked as if the Rockland men had their work cut out for them, but the score of 12 to 9 in their favor tells how well they met the test. In passing it may be said that 18 men were swung into the breach to save the day for Rockland.

Mank, Charles and John McLoon toed the slab for Rockland and Fred Knight caught, or did until he got a ball on the knee that awoke the echoes of Penobscot Bay and then "Joe E." Brown donned the mask to see the game finished. Carl Cottrell was in the lineup until he hit the ball half way to Green Island, an offense for which he was promptly penalized by being placed on the bench. Bill Spear is said to have made the most perfect muff ever seen in captivity, and is now busy explaining to the hecklers that he was "out of practice." Bert McLoon covered second sack with oldtime skill, and hit a liner that sounded like a southwest gale going around Cape Horn.

Noyes of Vinalhaven and Foote of Philadelphia did some clever box work for the consolidated team, with Hitchings behind the bat. Scribner, the Matinicus first sacker, was one of the batting stars of the game, and as a baserunner did stealing enough to make a bank embezzler envious.

Huse Tibbetts umpired the early part of the game, but swapped the job for shortstop's berth. Capt. Job Cunningham, 6 feet and 4 inches tall and weighing 240 pounds was the second umpire, and it cannot be recalled that anybody kicked at his decisions.

Homeward bound the party saw a whale, but as the prize for catching the largest fish had already been awarded, the boat didn't stop for him.

TO DEDICATE A TROPHY

The trophy awarded to the Thomaston plant of the Lawrence Portland Cement Company, as a reward for having no lost time accident in 1931 is to be formally dedicated next Saturday, the event being open to employees, their families and a few special guests.

The trophy was presented by the American Cement Association, and will be formally presented by one of its officials. The exercises will begin at 10 a. m. daylight, and the company will be welcomed by the plant manager C. H. Sonntag.

O. E. Wishman, safety engineer, who has seen his efforts so happily crowned, will introduce as toastmaster J. G. Thompson, chief chemist. Among the speakers will be Commissioner of Labor Charles O. Beals, State Safety Engineer Walter J. Brennan, Vice President M. S. Ackerman of the New York office and General Manager Kinney of the Portland Cement Association.

At noon there will be a monster clam bake and corn roast, and in the afternoon baseball and other sports on Dragons Field.

The Rockland City Band will disperse popular airs throughout the day and there will be—

Nothing to worry about.

A CAMDEN RALLY

The Republicans will hold a rally in Camden Opera House next Monday night at 8 o'clock and the public will have a chance to hear two exceptional speakers—Congressman John E. Nelson, who now represents this district; and ex-Congressman James H. MacLafferty of California, one of the best political orators in the country.

STRAND THEATRE
The mad but merry, Four Marx Brothers, specialists in nonsense, are starring today and tomorrow in "Horse Feathers," fourth of their moving pictures.
"Horse Feathers," like previous Marx Brothers pictures, is sheer rollickery, with the bemustached Groucho talking and punning at a terrific rate, slow-moving Chico answering in Italian dialect and occasionally playing the piano, red-winged Harpo chasing his blondes, and almost-normally Zeppo making love to the ingenue.
In "Horse Feathers," however, they have definite roles. Groucho is a college president who took that job to get his son, Zeppo, out of school, where he has spent 12 years or so. Chico is the village bootlegger and Harpo the village dog-catcher.
Between them, they manage to tear the college and everything else to pieces.
"Horse Feathers" was written by Bert Kalmar, Harry Ruby and S. J. Perelman, noted comedy-makers themselves. Music and lyrics are by Kalmar and Ruby, with Norman McLeod directing. Perelman, author of several humorous books, collaborated on "Monkey Business," a previous Marx Brothers picture, while Ruby and Kalmar, authors of numerous Broadway musical hits, worked on the stage production of "Animal Crackers." McLeod directed "Monkey Business."—adv.

Mrs. Cochran Says Troubles Are Ended

Portland, Ore.—Mrs. Wm. N. Cochran, Portland, Oregon, said: "Ever since I was a comparatively young woman I suffered with stomach trouble and nervousness. I was terribly constipated, bilious, run down and miserable. The way Sargon ended my troubles seems little less than a miracle. The first normal bowel movement I had in years I owe to Sargon Soft Mass Pills and they regulated me perfectly." Corner Drug Store, Inc., Rockland, Me.

CUSHING

Mrs. Frances Foster

July 31 marked the passing of another of our townspeople in the death of Frances (Gilchrist), 75, widow of the late William S. Foster. Deceased was the daughter of Isaac and Keziah (Robinson) Gilchrist and was born in St. George May 8, 1857. Her youth was passed in her native town where she united with the church at an early age.

Fifty-one years ago she was married to William S. Foster and with the exception of a few years in Massachusetts had lived in North Cushing practically all the time. The mother of four daughters, her last years were blessed with their devoted care and affection.

Of a naturally active disposition, she bore the years of inactivity which might have proved irksome, with patience and fortitude, strengthened by her faith in God and her love for His word. She tried to live according to its teaching, enjoyed studying it, and was sustained and comforted by its promises. She loved singing, one of her favorite hymns being "The Old Rugged Cross." Her first thought was for others even while suffering and she was deeply appreciative of kindness received. Neighbors and friends kept her home filled during her illness with the flowers she loved.

Surviving relatives are the four daughters, Mrs. Mary Hall of Winchendon, Mass., Mrs. Keziah Dilliver of Thomaston, Mrs. Harriet Forsholm of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Iola Smith of North Cushing; 12 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren; a brother, Oliver Johnson of Thomaston and nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held at the home, Rev. F. W. Barton of St. George officiating. The bearers were five grandsons Clyde, Bertram and Dean Hall, Sumner Banks and Harold Smith.

UNION

The Community Club held its August picnic meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Wallace, Aug. 18. After picnic lunch of salads, sandwiches and sweets the club was entertained by Mrs. Henry Stickney, who told with infectious enthusiasm of her trip last spring through Italy. The members of the club felt that the most delightful thing in the world would be to travel there with Mrs. Stickney and next to that would be to hear Mrs. Stickney tell of her trip.

She is the perfect traveler who magnified all the delights and minimizes all the drawbacks, and her talk was full of thrills for all who heard her. The company then adjourned to the big, old hay-scented barn where Mr. Stickney showed reels of a trip through Italy taken by him and Mrs. Stickney two years ago. Thirty-seven members and guests gave both Mr. and Mrs. Stickney a rising vote of thanks and an enthusiastic glad hand. The club was happy to have Mrs. William Ellingwood of Rockland, district director, among the guests.

The Wide Awake 4-H Club girls had a demonstration of the making of bread and rolls at the home of the assistant club leader, Mrs. Bertha Meserve, Aug. 16. Miss Jessie Lawrence, home demonstration agent and Miss Ruth Clark, county club agent, were present. The whole process of mixing, raising, molding and baking the sponge was shown by Miss Lawrence. The eight girls who attended the meeting felt that the possibilities of bread making had been much enlarged for them. They ate with great delight a variety of different breads and rolls based upon the one mixing of the sponge.

The next regular baby conference will be held at the M. E. vestry Thursday, Sept. 1. The annual pre-school conference will be held at the same time. All parents of children who will enter school for the first time this fall, are urged to bring them to this conference for a complete physical examination. This will be given by Miss Sutherland who has recently been appointed field nurse for Knox County, by Dr. H. H. Plummer. Through the generosity of Dr. Plummer, who gives his services gratis, this examination is without charge.

A bridal shower was given to Mrs. Philip Morine, Aug. 19 at the home of her mother, Mrs. Bernice Payson, when 54 guests attended and showered the bride with gifts and good wishes, and many unable to be present, sent gifts.

because they have discovered that it saves time, energy, and most important of all—money. In the realm of home management and in individual buying in general the advertisements act as a market guide . . . a guide not only as to where to buy and what price to pay but often as a guide as to what to buy. Many things that make life more enjoyable and comfortable are first discovered in the ads and then later repurchased through the ads. Many things that save on the family budget are discovered when the home-maker has learned to find the news of what's new by watching the advertisements. THAT'S WHY THREE OUT OF FOUR READ BEFORE THEY BUY.

"The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," adapted from the famous story by Washington Irving, will be repeated by the Socnyland Players next Monday night at 8 o'clock. The play opens with a visit of that well-known bachelor, Ichabod Crane, to Katrina Van Tassel. Ichabod is filled with stories of the headless horseman who has been seen riding on dark nights about the countryside near Sleepy Hollow. In fact he is so engrossed with stories of the horseman's escapades that he scarcely notices the rebuffs handed him by Katrina's father, old Baltus Van Tassel.

The Lucky Strike dance hour has come to be one of the most valuable periods on the radio both because of the wonderful music programs it presents from all over the two Americas, and the speakers of national and international fame which it presents. Mollison, the intrepid airman, who had just made a solo flight from Scotland to New Brunswick, the first westward solo flight across the Atlantic.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Johnson, Dexter street, Thomaston was the scene of a quiet, but especially pretty wedding, at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, when their only daughter, Margaret Elizabeth Johnson, and Paul Bramhall Simmons, of Friendship, exchanged their vows. Many motorists have been drawn to Rockport the past three nights to view the beautiful display of colored lights along the waterfront, placed there in preparation for the big carnival opening Thursday afternoon and continuing until Saturday at midnight. When the final arrangements are made, and the booths decorated, and illuminated, the lights and reflection in the water will make a picture of unsurpassed beauty as viewed from the opposite shore or public landing. ## WITH AN EYE TO BUSINESS

Chas. W. Livingston, Blacksmith - Machinist
Has Won Nation Wide Repute as Expert
Tool Maker and Auto Spring Specialist

When one hears the name Charles W. Livingston one naturally thinks of blazing forges, roaring machinery and expert workmanship. This association of ideas is correct for during his long and active career Charles W. Livingston has been constantly engaged in the finer machine and blacksmithing industries, always producing work of the highest grade. Previous to 1910 Mr. Livingston was plant superintendent for the Livingston Manufacturing Co., now known as The Bicknell Co. He left that firm in January of 1910 and in June of the same year opened the large shop on South Main street which he still operates. At that time Mr. Livingston devoted his main attention to the manufacture of paving cutters' tools, fishermen's equipment, especially scallop drags, then in great demand for those were the palmy days of the famous Munroe Island scallop beds and general blacksmithing.

The automobile was rapidly coming into vogue and Mr. Livingston sensed the necessity for a shop specially equipped to do spring work and so began an intensive study and practice of automobile spring installation and repair which has brought business and good repute in almost every state in the union. Expert workmanship and specialized, skillful installation have spread the good name of the shop and brought a constantly increasing volume of business from near and distant points. The business developed as the new mode of transportation grew. A glimpse at Mr. Livingston's books for those days of the automobile show the first motor car customers to have been Dr. Charles E. Britto, Edward Stearns, the late Elmer S. Bird and Harry Moody of Thomaston.

The commodious Livingston shop is today splendidly equipped for this special work and for general and specialized blacksmithing as well. A very complete stock of new and certified springs is always carried. The firm is particularly adapted for tool making and makes new and special tools of all sorts on order. Its name for high quality craftsmanship is unimpeachable and its products of the very best.

OUR DAIRY PRODUCTS

Local Granger Feels They Are Unjustly Discriminated Against In Massachusetts

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
Last March, the members of Lime-rock Valley Pomona Grange, finding that Maine dairy products were being unjustly discriminated against, addressed an open letter to the Boston Board of Health requesting an explanation. No answer was returned. The Granges of Maine started to raise a fund for advertising the 100% purity of Maine dairy products to the people of Boston but feel that they did not receive the encouragement their efforts deserved. Under the date of Aug. 14 an Augusta despatch to the Boston Globe said:

"Maine's milk revenue from the Massachusetts market has shrunk from $15,000,000 a year to about $9,000,000, according to Commissioner of Agriculture Frank P. Washburn. 'While part of this can be attributed to slackening of demand as a consequence of the depression, the major part of the cut is due to the lowered price which Maine dairymen are receiving for their product.'"

"Competition of the West, especially Wisconsin, is responsible for this. On the face of things, it scarcely seems possible that dairymen of a State so far west as Wisconsin can land milk in Massachusetts at a price lower than Maine."

"It is pointed out, however, that Wisconsin dairymen can produce milk more cheaply than can the Maine men. They have a longer pasturage season than does Maine. They are nearer the grain-producing belt, so can buy this feed at a much lower figure than can the Maine dairymen. These two factors more than offset the difference in transportation cost, according to Commissioner Washburn."

"Add to this the fact that the Boston Board of Health—and Boston is the largest single customer of both sections—has set up regulations governing conditions under which Maine milk must be produced to be admissible to the Boston market, yet which do not apply to the Wisconsin producer. It is contended that the attitude of the Boston officials is unfair."

"The answer which Boston makes is that it isn't practical to apply them in Wisconsin. This being so, it appeals to the Maine producer that it is unfair to penalize them."

"This Wisconsin milk, rather cream, for no milk is shipped to Boston from that State, is shipped in thermos bottles. It comes through in good condition. 'The argument is that if Boston is going to require certain conditions about the dairy in Maine, it should do so in Wisconsin. If that State does not live up to those requirements its product should be barred as would be the case with Maine milk.'"

WHAT LAWRY SAW

Better Traveling Conditions In New Hampshire and Vermont For One Thing

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
After a trip of nearly 900 miles through the Green Mountains of Vermont and the White Mountains of New Hampshire I am pleased to note the fine roads and roadhouses in the two States. I am told that the laws of Vermont compel the builders to keep one side open all the time, and this must be a smooth finished surface. Also I note that every curve and small trees and grass are taken away on trucks and no dead trees are left on the banks. As soon as I crossed the Maine line, I saw several fine trees all turned red, that had been killed by fire from burning brush. I also noted that every curve was marked, as were the steep hills and winding roads and roads entering from left and right. What few gravel roads I traveled were treated with calcium chloride, and smooth.

I climbed nearly three miles up Vermont mountains all in high gear and down the other side without hardly touching the brake. The new mountain road is now open up to Mt. Washington, a 15-mile drive with an altitude of 6292 feet, the highest peak of all the group. Signs are placed on the hills telling the drivers to use second gear in descending the grades, to save brakes. The information bureaus are routing all Bangor traffic via Route 100 because of construction work on Route 1. I counted 35 New York cars parked on the main street of Springfield, Vt., in fact almost as many as there were Vermont cars. We have noted the scarcity of out of State cars in Maine, but after touring the States of New Hampshire and Vermont I can see why they say: 'Why come into Maine and spoil your vacation?' I am not criticizing Maine, but I do think that the engineers could learn quite a few points by a trip to the adjoining States. Maine has much beautiful scenery, rivers and lakes that are worthy of mention. We are told that in a few years our roads will all be permanent and that Maine has many miles to care for, which is true, but why not build the black top roads permanent and save the cost yearly of a new surface and keep the permanent roads in good shape at the same time?

We crossed two toll bridges in Vermont, the charge being 15 cents per car regardless of passengers, 25 cents round trip returning that day. No. 100 was extended every courtesy in both Vermont and New Hampshire. These numbers are held by the Governors. Was sure glad to see Warren Feyer and Russell Gray Friday in Hill, N. H. It was the first car from home I had seen in five days.

BIG FIVE LEAGUE

South Thomaston took a big step toward the pennant Sunday by running away from Spruce Head in a double header at South Thomaston.

The double win gave a two-game lead over the second place Dragons, who were idle. Kickapoo and Rockville split their doubleheader at Rockville, the Kick gaining a 3 to 1 verdict in the first and Rockville pulling out a 6 to 5 victory in the second. Both were interesting games. Spruce Head lost all chances of winning the cup by its double setback Sunday, but the other teams remain in the fight. The standing:

	W	L	P.C.
South Thomaston	16	8	.667
Dragons	13	9	.591
Kickapoo	7	7	.500
Pirates	10	11	.476
Rockville	11	13	.458
Spruce Head	8	17	.320

Wednesday's games, Kickapoo vs. Pirates at Rockland; Dragons vs. South Thomaston at South Thomaston; Spruce Head vs. Rockville at Rockville.

Rockville got away to a good start in its game with South Thomaston at Rockville last Wednesday, but the winning habit was still strong with "The Keg" outfit, and it put across the winning run in the last inning. Incidentally it was a nice little pitchers' battle. Makinen holding Rockville to three singles, while South Thomaston could get only five off Hamalainen. The score:

HONORED IN BOSTON

"Uncle Fernando" Presented To Mayor Curley — Now At "The Weirs"

Marlboro, Mass., Aug. 20
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—
I left Rockland the 15th to visit in Massachusetts for a week and then go to The Weirs, N. H., where the New Hampshire G.A.R. was to hold its annual encampment. I came to Boston from Augusta by bus, via Lewiston. Talk about depression. There is no such animal when one is traveling and trying to get waited upon in the eating places. Our auto stopped in the middle of the street amidst a crush of traffic, and we had to thread our way to the curb at the risk of life and limb, the curb also being crowded with parked cars.

We arrived in Boston before 6 p. m., less than seven hours from Augusta. While in Boston I saw a baseball game between the Red Sox and Yankees; score 7 to 3, in favor of Boston. I don't know baseball, but I saw just as smart playing, on our home diamond between Rockland and St. George.

I was taken to City Hall, where amid a great rush of waiting people who were anxious to see the Mayor, I was singled out, taken to the inner sanctum and introduced to His Honor the Mayor, all without my application, and without warning. His Honor received me cordially, insisted on giving me his personal chair, and in all the rush of business, chatting with me several minutes. Learning I was from Rockland, Maine, he said he remembered meeting my Mayor Richardson at the Convention in Chicago. He ended the interview by ordering one of his secretaries to fetch a book in which he wrote his autobiography, the date, etc., and presented it to me with his compliments. I still have the book, with some other documents that were given with it.

My next move was from Boston to Waltham (city of watches) where I was met by my nephew, Arthur Taylor, who took me to Lake Boon, where his family is "outing" in the town of Stow. Lake Boon is beautiful and upon the shores are some 350 cottages.

Here I found Capt. Jackson, a Civil War Veteran whom I had formerly met. After an hour's chat I was rowed home to my bungalow, but Capt. Jackson telephoned to ex-Mayor Cook in Marlboro (also a former friend) who hustled out Commander Wood of Marlboro Post, G.A.R., and two other Civil War veterans and they paid me a surprise visit of two hours, and a jolly good time we had. Later I was taken to Prof. George H. Barton's cottage a half mile away, and he piloted me to an historical stone a few rods from his door and gave me its history.

Erected to the memory of Matthew Boon, one of the two first settlers in the town (now Stow) who was killed by the Indians Sept. 14, 1676, with all his family and a friend who was trying to help them reach the blockhouse after hearing that King Philip's warriors were on the warpath. Mr. Barton is professor of geology in Harvard (I think he said) only 90 years of age and still going strong. He showed me a painting of a volcano in action—Hawaii—where he was stationed for two years on survey work. He had worked on all sides of it, while it was in action. A lurid, weird scene.

I go tomorrow to New Hampshire to attend the meetings at The Weirs lasting full week.

HARKING BACK A BIT

Boston Traveler Editor Longs For the Cap'n Ingrahams and Al Hanscom

Under the caption "The Deportees" the Boston Traveler recently ran this editorial:
"The news story telling of the antics gotten away with by a gang of culch being sent from our shores to the vile dust from whence they sprung, and of the trouble they gave officers and crew of the deportation vessel, makes one long for Cap'n Ote or Cap'n Mark Ingraham and Pursar Al Hanscom of the old Bangor line. Gentlemen, seamen, fine upstanding citizens, they endeared themselves long ago by their outstanding qualities as capable officers of a steamship."

They constituted a two-man army. In Dix Island days, when that granite isle was inhabited by a few thousand stonecutters, every so often a group would decide to pick up and start from Rockland for Boston. Primed with what passed for intoxicating liquor, they usually undertook to capture the steamer as it swung around Owl's Head and began to plough a deep furrow in the Mussel Ridge channel. But they erred grievously.

"Cap'n Ote or his equally worthy brother, Cap'n Mark Ingraham, glorious in gold-braided uniform, would summon Al as coadjutor, and when the tumult and the shouting died, gore was everywhere excepting on the gallant suppressors of violence, and tranquilizers of the turbulent. They were as immaculate as when they started; spotless, and not even cravats disturbed."

"But on the main deck for'd—well, hundreds of rugged stonecutters often reminded and told of the mighty prowess of real officers, when we had wooden ships—and iron MEN."

BREMEN

A number from here attended the Lincoln Home Founders' Day in New-castle.

Carrie Wallace is visiting in Wal-doboro.

Catherine McLain has employment in Wal-doboro.

There are still a few oxen in town—about six pairs. Norris Richards is logging the lot with a 7 foot 10 pair.

The pastor of the Bremen Church is wondering if the large gathering at the church comes to hear the sermon or the music, which is something rare for a country church. Mr. Heiser is at the organ. Mrs. Heiser and daughter Hope are both singers and Mme. Florence Mascicki is a teacher of violin in New York city, now at her summer home in Wal-doboro.

Mrs. Louise Weston is very ill at her home here.
